

I highly oppose the FCC lessening the Indiana Telephone Privacy Act. The Indiana Telephone Privacy Law has saved us many cold dinners. We used to receive in abundance of 15 calls per day before we asked to be put on the Do Not Call List here in Indiana. Now if we receive any at all, it is very minimal and it is wonderful! We ate many cold dinners while raising babies but our babies are grown and we do very much enjoy our privacy. In fact, we treasure it. It seems to us that if someone wishes to "bother" or "pester" a family, it is perfectly all right with the FCC. But what about the privacy of we individuals? Do we not have any rights in our own homes? We are now getting an abundance of unwanted soliciting mail and I mark "Return To Sender" and send it back unopened. We feel that being American citizens, we have the right to the privacy in our home of being completely rid of unwanted, bothersome, nuisance telephone calls and now it has gone to the extent of mail. Do law abiding citizens have no say in their lives?

Thank you for listening and please DO NOT REVERSE INDIANA'S TELEPHONE PRIVACY LAW. It is extremely important to us.
